AWE Group of Seven Artwork Reproductions

Four groups of seven artwork reproductions and one piece by Mary Celestino can be found outside along downtown Amherstburg's streets; the Park House Museum, the clocktower, the walkway next to the Gordon House, Ramsay St next to the River Bookshop and The Post Office. They feature Canadian landscapes done in oil or acrylic such as Vancouver Island and Pembina Valley. Art Windsor Essex with the support of Richard and Colleen Peddie, St Clair College and the Ontario Trillium Foundation were able to create this project called "Look Again Outside: Amherstburg."

Our River Our Home Mural

This Mural created by Dylan and Dennis White can be found in the Kings Navy Yard park and represents Amherstburg's wildlife and history along the waterfront.

Our river consists of 6000 acres of fish, birds, insects and more. Check out the link on this card to learn more about our amazing waterways and their significance.

General Amherst Murals

On the back of the General Amherst High School you can find 9 murals restored by Jason Dyra that show Amherstburg's life and history in the 1800's. The murals showcase Amherstburg's waterfront, Amherstburg's Black heritage, Bois Blanc Island, trading, agriculture, exploration, Fort Malden and more. Scan the QR code to learn more about each mural.

Amherstburg Fire Hydrants

For Canada's 150th birthday, General Amherst students painted 11 of Amherstburg's downtown fire hydrants to reflect Canadian culture. They can be found behind General Amherst, around Toddy Jones Park and Dalhousie to Gore Street.

River Bookshop Murals

Three stunning murals can be seen at the corner of Richmond and Ramsay St. David Creed painted a rainbow book exploding with a variety of images on the side of the River Bookshop. The colorful wildlife and "opening the mind" murals were done by DERKZ.
